

Welcome to Madrid

The English singer and songwriter is embarking on a European tour to present her fourth album, Young Heart, which will be stopping off at La Riviera on 17 April 2023. This latest album aims to be a beautiful and poetic journey through anxiety, a portrait of her life, according to the artist.

Born in 1996 in England, Birdy made her debut in 2015 with her album, Beautiful Lies, and it has accumulated millions of plays on Spotify, streams and has sold almost 5 million albums. Thanks to her mother's musical roots, she played the piano at the age of five and started to compose when she was seven, winning the British Open Mic UK talent competition when she was twelve.

At the end of this competition, she signed up with Warner Bros Music UK. In 2011, Birdy released a version of Skinny love by Bon Iver, becoming her first hit in the UK Singles Chart, reaching Number 17. In the same year, she released her album of the same name, which received several gold discs with just one original single. A year later, along with Taylor Swift and Maroon 5, she contributed to the soundtrack of the film, The Hunger Games with the song, Just a Game.

This will be Birdy's first tour since 2016 and the first time she will perform the songs from her album, Young Heart. Her fans are anxiously awaiting the reunion with their favourite artist on stage.
