

Welcome to Madrid

This space located inside the museum offers a wide variety of publications about the gallery itself, as well as books and publications related to its history and collections, official and exclusive products, such as postcards, posters and a diverse range of objects and souvenirs inspired by the Prado Collection.

It is also possible to purchase customised high quality prints of the museum's official reproductions.

The main Prado Museum store is located in the lobby that links the building designed by Juan de Villanueva with the extension designed by Rafael Moneo, with direct access via the Jerónimos door. The Museum also has a store at the Jónica Gallery, located on the first floor of the historic building. During temporary exhibitions, the Prado may open small stores next to the Cristina Iglesias doors and/or at the exit of exhibition halls A and B, on the ground floor. The store's bookshop is located in the corridor between the Jerónimos lobby and the Villanueva Building, alongside the halls devoted to 19th century art.

The Prado Museum also has an online store where you can purchase all of the articles that are on sale in the physical store.
