

Welcome to Madrid

This establishment located in Chueca, close to the start of the Gran Vía and the Bank of Spain, follows a unique leisure concept in which gastronomy and shows are complemented to offer absolute fun. There, you will be able to enjoy brunch at the weekends, improvised musical performances by the artists who form part of the staff, as well as concerts and live music.

The establishment is divided into two spaces, each with its own personality. The upper, more informal floor, allows you to enjoy the menu as soon as the establishment opens whilst staff improvise fun performances to the rhythm of popular songs and music. The Crazy Mama dinner show takes place on the lower floor, where the cuisine and the show come together and you can dance and listen to current issues until dawn.

Bule Bule has a menu created by Pepe Roch, in collaboration with several Thai cuisine restaurants, along with establishments, such as Kava in Marbella, standing out for its creativity and international character and is complemented with a wide variety of classic and signature cocktails.
