

Welcome to Madrid

The Nights at the Botanical Festival will hold its seventh edition from 9 June to 30 July at the Alfonso XIII Royal Botanical Garden, located at Madrid Complutense University. It is a cycle of concerts for summer evenings and nights in which a selection of national and international artists will participate, presenting their latest albums and hits live in a unique environment. The latest edition brings together 45 musical events by artists like Bob Dylan, Placebo, Nile Rodgers, Natalia Lafourcade, The Lumineers, LP or Zaz, among others.

In June and July, this natural space at Madrid Complutense University's Botanical Garden will be the venue for the multi-faceted festival in which generations and styles (jazz, Latin, flamenco, rock and pop) will come together, making eclecticism its cover letter and becoming a not to be missed musical event for summer nights.

Not only on the musical side, but also in terms of the connection with nature in a unique setting in the city, as the concerts of your favourite artists can become an unforgettable experience, enjoying every day of the programme, from 7pm on summer evenings in Madrid Complutense University's Botanical Garden.

Following on from the sixth edition that brought together more than 135,000 people, the 2023 programme includes 45 concerts, hosting legendary artists, such as Bob Dylan, Nile Rodgers and CHIC, Chris Isaak, Djavan or Rubén Blades, and others who present their captivating sounds of soul, folk and African rhythms, such as Joss Stone, Roberta Sà or Salif Keita.

There will be no lack of major names from pop rock, such as Placebo, The Lumineers, LP, Damien Rice or Zaz, as well as the artistic fusion and jazz by Carlos Rivera, Silvia Pérez Cruz, Tito Nieves or Avishai Cohen. From the Spanish speaking world, artists like Natalia Lafourcade, Luz Casal, Andrés Calamaro, M-Clan, Iván Ferreiro, El Cigala, Fito Páez and Niña Pastori, among others, will be present.

The seventh edition has implemented a series of improvements which, along with the green rest areas, stands in the Encanto Market and various services, make the Nights at the Botanical one of the most experiential and sustainable events in Spain.
